

Big Government May Have Trouble Getting Big Men to Help It

The best comment I have heard or read on the Charles E. Wilson controversy came over the Mutual network the other night in "Reporters' Roundup."

Wilson, as you know, has been offered the post of Secretary of Defense by President Eisenhower, but many senators are threatening to vote against confirmation unless the General Motors corporation president gets rid of his stock. They say it would be improper for him to serve the government while retaining any interest in a company which has dealings with the government.

The comment I heard over the radio came from Paul Hoffman, former overseas administrator who now heads the Ford Foundation. Mr. Hoffman told the reporters that when approached by the Ford people he reminded them that he was former president of the Studebaker corporation, a competitor, and held important stock in it — and he didn't mean to give up interests which he had been 40 years acquiring. That was all right with Ford, and Hoffman took the job.

Since Mr. Hoffman was specifically answering questions on the Wilson controversy the inference is pretty plain — if the government wants Wilson it may have to take him "as is."

The facts, I believe, are, that Wilson draws $600,000 a year salary as head of General Motors and holds a heavy stock interest. Obviously the man is one of the world's top organizers, and asking him not only to give up that salary while in government service but also to sacrifice his stock may be more than he or any other similarly situated man would do. Business careers are for a life-time — but government office is a short day.

Not so many years ago a case like Wilson's wouldn't have been such a close question. A man was supposed to divorce himself entirely from any business in line for government contracts when he entered federal service. I don't believe our morality has changed the slightest when today we find ourselves in doubt about this.

The change has been in the government — not us. Government "has" gotten "so" big that it touches financial hands with every major industry and business. If the old concept of what a man is supposed to do before entering federal service is to apply today where will government look for its administrators?

All that would be available are the inexperienced and those so old that they face retirement from business anyway. The tough problems of today's super-big federal machine aren't likely to be solved by such as these.

It was Hoffman's opinion that General Motors "ought to be pitied if it has to deal with Charles Wilson in government — because Charles would lean over backward."

Well, here's where tradition and necessity meet head-on — and the senate holds the final word on the man Eisenhower has put up for his top cabinet post.

American Jets Down Seven Shy Enemy Planes

By ROBERT UDICK
SEOUL, Korea, (UP)—Rampaging American Sabrejets, badly outnumbered, shot down seven Russian-built enemy planes and damaged three to run up their biggest MIG-15 toll of the year today.

Five MIGs were knocked out of the skies and three damaged in a high-altitude duel between 24 Sabres and 43 MIGs, and three more of the enemy fighters were destroyed in five separate battles involving 10 Sabres and 20 MIGs.

It was the greatest Allied air victory since Jan. 14 when eight MIGs were destroyed, one probably destroyed and five damaged.

America's two leading jet aces each added a MIG to his score, bringing their totals to nine confirmed kills—and one of them had a "probable" still awaiting confirmation.

Col. Royce N. Baker of McKinney, Tex., and Maj. Robinson Risher of Oklahoma City, Okla., each got their ninth MIGs, and Baker probably got his 10th. Maj. Vermont Garrison of Tulsa, Okla., also was waiting for gun camera films to be evaluated before it would be known whether he had added an eighth plane to today's total score.

But it was another pilot from the 51st fighter wing, Capt. Ophino D. Overton III, Andrews, S. C., who had the best hunting of the day. He shot down four MIG-15s in flames and damaged a third.

The 27-year-old 1949 West Point graduate flew 100 fighter-bomber missions and then transferred to Sabres and has 40 missions in them.

Other claims went to Col. John Mitchell of Enid, Miss., 2nd Lt. H. M. Arbuckle, Houston, Tex., and 1st Lt. Joseph McConnell, Mesa, Estates, Victoryville, Calif.

The damage claims were made by 1st Lt. Richard M. Cowden, Silt, Colo., and Maj. Edwin L. Heiler of Wynwood, Pa.

The day's fighting brought the 1953 boxscore to 24 MIGs shot down.

Death Claims One of Brodie Siamese Twins

CHICAGO, (AP)—Tiny Roger Lee Brodie, Siamese twin who for 34 days amazed the medical world by surviving a head-to-head surgical separation, died last night.

The 16-month-old boy had been in a deep coma since the history-making operation Dec. 17. His brain circulation was impaired and his condition had been listed "very precarious" since the separation from his brother Rodney De.

Attending physicians had expressed amazement that he survived the 12 hour and 40 minute operation.

The surgery on the twins, who were born joined at the top of their heads, was the first time in medical history the patients had survived such an operation.

Rodney, since the separation, has undergone two plastic procedures to put skin over his brain. He has shown some signs he is on the road to recovery. However, he must undergo further surgery and his condition still is regarded as critical.

"Roger's death was not an unexpected development by any means" said a spokesman at the Neuro-Psychiatric Hospital of the University of Illinois.

The spokesman said attending physicians had explained several times that Roger's chances of recovering consciousness were "virtually nonexistent."

"The child had received minute-to-minute care since the operation," he said. "Feeding through the nose tube continued on a half-hour schedule until a few minutes before he died."

"His condition had gradually worsened, almost imperceptibly. There was a definite indication of sinking during the day, a gradually slowing pulse rate."

It was during the twins' separation that surgeons discovered there was only one superior sagittal sinus, the main passageway or vein draining blood back from both brains. Because Rodney was holding up much better during the marathon operation and surgery in his favor could be more easily performed, he was favored for "survival of the fittest" by the surgeons. They gave the sagittal sinus and most of the brain covering to Rodney and took the bigger chance on Roger's survival.

Parents of the twins, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie, were informed of Roger's death late last night through a relative as they have no telephone in their farm home near Moline, Ill.

Dierks Bank Hearing May Take 3 Months

FT. SMITH, (AP)—The prospect of a months-long probe faced the Federal Grand Jury here today as it resumed hearing witnesses in the $285,000 Bank of Dierks shortage.

And the possibility of one or two indictments this week was expressed here yesterday by U.S. District Atty. R. S. Wilson.

The only person charged in the case so far is Mrs. Opal Stimmington, 40, the former assistant cashier at the bank. She is charged in a federal warrant with making false entries in the bank's books.

Wilson said that "Federal deposit Insurance Corporation" auditors still are busy auditing each individual account of the bank. They may not get through until May or June. I doubt whether the Grand Jury's work can be entirely completed before the auditing is finished.

Wilson said about seven or eight witnesses were questioned yesterday. They did not include Mrs. Stimmington, who talked to the jury before it recessed earlier this month. Wilson did not know if she would be called to testify again.

The attorney said a similar number of witnesses will be heard today.

Rioting Convicts Spurn Surrender Ultimatums

BELLEFONTONE, Pa. (AP)—Shouting defiance, some 325 rebellious convicts again spurned surrender ultimatums today in their barricaded cellblock at the Rockview State Penitentiary and refused to release six guards held as hostages until their "gripes" are honored.

It was the third day of their surprise insurrection. Last night 400 of Rockview's prisoners capitulated to a demand by Gov. John S. Fine who warned that additional jail sentences would be given to every man who continues to defy authority.

The newest rejection of the state's efforts to bring peace to the prison came in a yelling exchange between Deputy Attorney General Edward Friedman, standing on the ground outside cellblock "A" and the convict leader who peered out barred windows 30 feet above.

Friedman sought to negotiate a surrender of the convict rebels who launched the rioting Monday night. During the course of the rioting hundreds of mattresses have been burned, and plumbing and other fixtures have been ripped off walls and thrown out cell windows.

Hope City Council last night discussed the possibility of an underpass over the Missouri Pacific railway tracks on the east side of the business area, purchased new equipment for the Water and Light plant and disposed of additional routine business.

The underpass east of the business district was aired at length and Mayor Wilson and City Engineer C. O. Thomas are to do some more investigating and report back to the council at its first February meeting.

The group voted to accept a proposal from the Pilsbry Co. to re-erect turnouts at the light plant at a cost of $4,519. They also voted to purchase a new water pump for the plant which will increase the volume of water into the main. Delivery will be made about May. And in other light plant business, Clyde Zinn, manager, was instructed to build an electrical line along the Rocky Mountain road to Moore's slaughter pen at a cost of $150.

Engineer Thomas filed an estimate of the cost of installing sanitary sewers in the Shover Street addition. Property owners G. T. Lawson and Miss Lillie Middlebrooks also took part in the discussion which resulted in formation of a new sewer improvement district.

A petition signed by E. P. O'Neal, B. W. and Joe Edwards asked that alleys in Blocks 2-3 in the city be closed. A hearing was set for February 17.

In other action the group approved Bill S. Watson taking over the Municipal Airport lease which was previously negotiated with B. T. Rettig; talked about installing a grease rack at the city garage; heard a report on health principles from Dr. Herbert Rogers; agreed to pay for a fan installed at the community restroom and voted to give Ward's Drug Store a space for loading.

No-Appeasement Creed Wins Widespread Support as Ike's Domestic Program Is Awaited

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Eisenhower's no-appeasement foreign policy creed commanded widespread support today in a Congress marking time for an early blueprint of his domestic program.

As the din of a three-day inaugural celebration died away, the 34th President faced the task of putting into a State of the Union message his ideas for carrying on the "Great Crusade" he pledged before his landslide vote victory last November. No date for delivery of the message has been announced.

Eisenhower's inaugural address yesterday was a broadly stated outline of his foreign policy creed. He left for later messages the details of his international and domestic programs.

"The Congress and the nation had to wait a bit longer to see just how great a change in executive thinking was entailed by the shift after 20 years, from Democratic to Republican control of the White House.

Because of a row over one proposed appointment and the objections of Sen. Morse (Ind.-Rep.) to quick Senate action yesterday on nine nominations, Eisenhower started his first full day in office without a Cabinet. That could be changed by likely Senate votes today on eight Cabinet jobs.

There was little but delay in sight, however, for Charles E. Wilson, whose prospective nomination for secretary of defense has been challenged because of his General Motors holdings. A new hearing for Wilson, originally set for today, was postponed until Friday.

Except for the Cabinet appointments, there was no business before the Senate today, and the House was in recess.

Eisenhower apparently could count on much two-party backing in Congress for his foreign program, as he outlined it broadly in his 20-minute inaugural address yesterday.

If Republicans Are Seeking Plan to Trim Down Figures They Might Consult Dagmar

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, (AP)—There isn't as much Dagmar as there used to be. She just decided she was "too much of a good thing." So now she's in a new economy-size package.

And if the Republican administration is looking for advice on how to trim down figures Dagmar stands ready to help. Deciding her own blonde abundance was outgrowing the nation's television screens, she has trimmed her weight a full 20 pounds.

The new Dagmar, a canny lass who skyrocketed her income from $25 for her first video show to $75,000 a week for personal appearance tours, is positively slinky now instead of buxom.

"Honey," she calls everybody that — "too much weight stymies my mind," she said. "The fat was getting around my brain. Now I can think faster. But I'm lucky. When I diet the weight comes off all over me. I feel so little."

She said, however, that whittling down her shape hadn't hurt her celebrated chest expansion — 42½ inches normal, 45 expanded. Nor does she feel that her new svelte shape should stir any alarm in two potential blonde rivals — Zsa Zsa Gabor and Marilyn Monroe.

"I never did feud with anybody," she said mildly. "The country is so big there is room for all three of us — even when I breathe deeply."

"But Marilyn sure was smart to get her picture on that calendar. People have to look at a calendar to see what day it is. That way they get to see more of her."

Dagmar portrays a dumb blonde, but in real life she is about as dumb as an albino fox. She is a big, breezy, cheerful gal — as informal as a backyard clothesline hung with laundry.

"Honey, I'll tell you anything except my age and my weight — they both fluctuate too much," she said, as we sat signing coffee in her pantheum apartment with her small slender husband, Danny Dayton, the comedian.

Dagmar doesn't believe any woman who wants to lose weight should follow her own spartan diet. "Honey, I just made it up myself," she said. "For a combination breakfast and lunch I have coffee and two hardboiled eggs. No salt on the eggs — I just take the shells off."

"Then late in the evening I have either steak, roast beef or liver with some stewed tomatoes and coffee. It's a stupid menu. . . . Probably I'll most girls. But I'm strong enough to take it."

Despite her profitable personal appearance tours, Dagmar would like to have another television program to show off her new streamlined figure. But a good TV program — like a good man — is hard to find.

"If it's cultural, I'll go for it," she said, adding modestly: "I have nothing but a brain."

Jap Fishermen See Russians Down Superfort

TOKYO, (AP)—Japanese fishermen just released from Soviet captivity said today they saw Russian fighter planes and ground guns shoot down a U. S. B29 Superfort last Oct. 7 off Northern Japan.

One fisherman said he saw two Russian fighter planes chase the B29, heard gunfire and then: "Black smoke started to stream from the American plane and it crashed into the sea at a tremendous speed."

The fishermen gave their accounts to Japanese reporters at Nemuro on the Northern island of Hokkaido.

35 Per Cent Parcel Post Hike Sought

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today disclosed a petition from the Post Office Department for a new increase in parcel post rates averaging close to 35 per cent.

The petition was filed by Jesse M. Donaldson, who went out of office as postmaster general at noon yesterday. Dated Jan. 15, the plea for higher rates was one of his last official acts.

Postal officials estimated that the proposed hike would raise income from parcel post service by about 130 million dollars a year.

These sources said Donaldson had no choice except to file the petition since the package service was operating in the red.

Under a congressional mandate, the department must in these circumstances seek higher rates from the ICC or lose its regular appropriations.

The rates were last raised an average of 25 per cent on Oct. 1, 1951. This increased parcel post revenues by about 100 million dollars a year. However, the department said that subsequent wage increases in the service and a grant of higher railway mail pay by the ICC had created a new deficit.

U. S. Airmen See 'Saucers' Near Russia

By WILLIAM O. BARNARD
A U. S. AIR BASE, NORTH-EAST JAPAN (AP)—Mysterious flying objects — "rotating clusters of red, white and green lights" — have been sighted over Northern Japan by American airmen, the Air Force disclosed tonight.

Intelligence reports placed the sightings close to Russian territory in the Kurile Islands and Sakhalin. They added:

"There are too many indications of the presence of something x x x to be considered an observation of nothing." And they discounted the possibility the sighted objects were mere "reflections of light."

Col. Curtis R. Low, commander of the northern division of the Japan Air Defense Force, said the flying clusters were seen by fighter pilots and ground personnel and were tracked on radar. He released official intelligence reports on the sightings to the Associated Press.

The reports were similar to those describing "flying saucers" in the U. S. One said the lights appeared and then at other times disappeared with blinding speed.

Col. Donald J. M. Blakeslee, World War II ace, and commander of an escort fighter wing, took detailed observations on one rotating cluster and tried in vain to intercept it in a jet.

13 Communists Found Guilty by U. S. Jury

NEW YORK, (UP)—All 13 Communist defendants were found guilty by a federal jury today on charges they taught and advocated the overthrow of the U. S. government by force and violence.

The jury reached its verdict after 48 hours and 25 minutes of actual deliberation on the seventh day since it was closed to consider the fate of the defendants.

Mrs. Lucille Collette, foreman of the jury read the verdict: "We find all the defendants guilty as charged."

Eleven top Communist leaders were convicted in the same courtroom after a record-breaking 11-month trial, more than three years ago.

Federal Judge Dimmock opened a note from the jury at 11:45 a. m. It stated simply: "We have reached a verdict."

Within seconds the courtroom filled with spectators and deputy U. S. marshals and government building guards took their places also around the courtroom.

Each of the defendants faced a possible maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and a $10,000 fine upon conviction.

Quick Change in Korea Is Ruled Out

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—The basic principles set up by President Eisenhower to guide his administration, published today to rule out, at least in the immediate future, any radical new strategy for United Nations forces in the Korean War.

He found in discord among the Allies and his repeated stress on the need for unity among the free nations seemed to offer this reassurance to uneasy Allied governments.

These governments, particularly those of allied Western European nations, became concerned about the policies of an Eisenhower administration last fall when Republican campaign orators made an issue of ending the Korean War. There was apprehension that the U. S. under Eisenhower might undertake moves which would lead to a broadening of the war.

Similarly there has been concern abroad about a policy of "liberation" for Russian satellite the Capitol, the new President told the world that great are the problems at home, America's overriding concern is to make certain that the future shall belong to the free.

Reaffirming his campaign stand for co-operation with other free nations, he said that "no free people can long cling to any privilege or enjoy any safety in economic isolation."

But he said other nations must "assume, within the limits of their resources, their full and just burdens in the common defense of freedom."

The first task of statesmanship, he continued, must be to "develop the strength that will determine the forces of aggression and promote the conditions of peace."

Then he sounded his keynote: "Realizing that common sense and common decency alike dictate the futility of appeasement, we shall never try to placate an aggressor by the false and wicked flattery of trailing honor for security. For in the final choice a soldier's pack is not so heavy a burden as a peacemaker's chains."

The somewhat apathetic reception by the estimated crowd of 125,000 persons for the inaugural speech there were four applause interruptions—was countered by glowing words of praise from both Republicans and Democrats in Congress.

Senators like Taft of Ohio, the majority leader, and Wiley of Wisconsin, the foreign relations chairman, found the message "magnificent" and "inspiring." Democrats promised co-operation toward the overall goal of world peace.

Some members of Congress thought they found in the inaugural address, almost none of which dealt with domestic affairs, hints of legislative recommendations to come.

down, four probably destroyed and 22 damaged.

Overton said he first saw four MIGs at about 40,000 feet. "I closed up and squeezed at least 900 rounds, getting perfect hits all over the first plane," he said. "Then, he dove down smoking all the way. I followed him down to 4,000 feet but still didn't pull out."

As he pulled up, Overton racked the nose section of another MIG and took off after a second flight of four enemy fighters, getting behind the last one.

"I sprayed his plane until every square foot seemed to have a hole in it," he said. "Pieces flew off, and he started trailing heavy black smoke and gasoline from his wings."

Baker said he used only 75 rounds of ammunition to knock his MIG down in flames.

Short Fanga

The deadly cobra, fortunately, has very short fangs, and a person dressed in ordinary street clothes is protected fairly well from its bite.

Time zones in the United States were first adopted by the railroads in 1883. "The American people's solitude" was taken in some quarters to portend a recommendation for more liberal trade policies with the Western World.

His assertion that "any man who seeks to deny equality in all his brothers betrays the spirit of the free and invites the mockery of the tyrant" might indicate civil rights proposals beyond removal of racial barriers in the District of Columbia, a campaign promise. Eisenhower's promise to develop strength to deter aggression was regarded as an indication that he will propose no reduction in the pace of American and Allied rearmament.

But he made clear his intention that foreign aid must bring a matching effort by the beneficiaries to make themselves strong.

Calling on Western Europe to unify its defensive strength, the new President held out an offer to "engage with any and all others in joint effort to remove the causes of mutual fear and distrust among nations and so make possible drastic reduction of armaments."

This was taken as an invitation to Russia to change her ways.

If there is any end play in automobile axle shaft, it can be detected by jacking up the wheels and shaking them, or by rocking the car back and forth, closely watching the side motion in the rear wheels.

garding the controversial Wilson appointment.

Hagerly said he knows of no change in the President's decision to appoint the former General Motors president to the cabinet.

Wilson's prospective appointment had been challenged by some Republicans and Democrats who quoted laws saying that no federal official on a contract-making level may hold a financial interest in a company which owns defense contracts.

Jap Fishermen

Hokkaido. Three fishing craft with 23 crewmen were released after six months of hard labor on the Russian-held island of Yuri near Hokkaido. They had been seized for allegedly poaching in Russian waters.

The accounts they gave varied in some detail but most said they saw two Soviet fighters chase a B29 while they were fishing under Soviet orders.

The fishermen said Soviet soldiers guarding them immediately ordered the fishing boats back to Yuri, where they were put under confinement. They made no mention of sighting any parachutes from the B29.

The U. S. government hotly protested the incident to Russia, demanding compensation for the "wanton and unjustifiable attack" and warned of possible grave consequences from the "reckless practice."

Yoshio Miyaho, 35, said he and 15 other Japanese prisoners saw a Russian plane dive at the Superfort and "fire furiously."

Moments earlier he had seen a single-engine plane and a four-engine aircraft flying side by side.

The single-engine plane suddenly went into a dive. Its guns firing. The four-engine plane, he said, faltered and began to lose altitude, leaving a trail of smoke. It disappeared behind a hill.

Miyaho's account made no mention of a second Russian fighter plane or did he say anything of ground fire.

Relief Promised in Flood Areas

By United Press

Generally mild weather continued throughout most of the nation today, and flood weary northern California and southern Oregon got a promise of relief from heavy rains which had isolated entire communities with floods, slides and washouts.

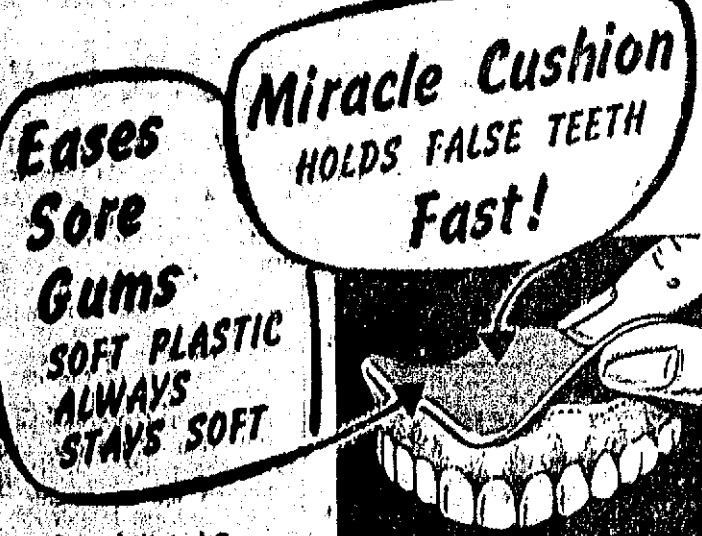

Gentle winter breezes pushed as far as the Canadian border and little or no snow was in sight. Even in Egypt as early as 1600 B. C.

At Miami, Fla., early morning temperatures hovered in the low 70's for the nation's high.

Clear skies and light winds over the southern plains dropped the mercury somewhat in that area, with Tulsa, Okla., hitting the mid-20s before sunrise.

"Something for the Birds" Arrives

With its Washington mix-ups and Senatorial investigations, "Something for the Birds," new movie showing today and tomorrow at the Saenger theatre, is as fresh as today's headlines. Yancy Sims, (right) Memphis pilot, brought the movie to Hope.

DOROTHY DIX

Recklessness

Dear Miss Dix: I am writing you on behalf of a friend. For about two years she has been dating — not steadily — a young man, with whom she is very much in love. Recently she had been seeing much more of him and was sure he was growing fond of her. The last time they were out together they had a very enjoyable evening, and he left her in the very best of spirits, saying he would call soon. That was about a month ago and she has not heard a word from him.

She has been suffering greatly since, being both remorseful and unhappy. She fears she might have had a little too much to drink and, under those circumstances, said something which displeased him. She is sure if she sees him again, the whole thing could be straightened out. She hesitates calling to offer an explanation since the situation may not be as she imagines it, in which case an explanation would seem foolish. What can she do?

A LOYAL FRIEND
Answer: To allay her own apprehensions and feeling of guilt, your friend's best move would be to send the young man some sort of message indicating that she has missed seeing him, and hopes he is all right and that his silence has not been caused by illness or any other trouble. Your friend apparently doesn't recall too much of what happened on their last date so it is possible that the young man's speech and actions may not have been above reproach, leading to remorse on his part that has occasioned the silence. A friendly note from her would indicate that all had been forgiven — even though she has no idea of what she forgave. Such a situation, of course could open a door to more complication, but under the circumstance it's about the best she can do.

Specious Arguments
How any young lady, who is trying to arouse the earnest intention of a man, can commit the supreme folly of drinking until she is befuddled is beyond me. The mere fact that she was intoxicated would be enough to send most men flying in another direction. At the time, he may have convinced her that by taking drink for drink with him, she was proving herself a good sport, but such arguments are very specious — as our teenagers say, they "don't bounce."

Your friend certainly should offer

Escapée Retaken in Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., (AP) — A 17-year-old escapee from the Boys Industrial School at Pine Bluff, Ark., was captured here yesterday while waiting for a Western Union money order from home.

Police said James Crutcheff of Nashville, Ark., told them he was waiting for money from his sister in order to return to the Arkansas reformatory voluntarily.

Police Chief Murrell Waddle said the boy told him he separated from five other boys who drove here in a car which they later abandoned. A search is underway for the other five.

Crutcheff and six other boys escaped from the school last Sunday. One boy, Vernon Edlington, was caught at Little Rock Monday.

School Supt. H. P. Hargis identified the five still at large as Ernest Garner, 16, Pine Bluff; Joseph Johnson, 16, Hot Springs; Sheriff Hill, 16, Tyrone; Gene Guyones, 17, and Floyd Gilbert, 21 both of Marianna.

my sister loves her and the baby loves her aunt. What shall I do? PAULA Answer: It's natural to expect your sister to love the child after caring for her so long, and it's also to be expected that your baby will love her aunt; but such a young child will turn to anyone who cares for her. You'll have no difficulty at all in winning her love and your sister has realized all along that the baby would be hers only temporarily. By all means take your baby back if you can support and care for her.
